DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS, AND THE DEMANDS OF THE SOUTH.

(Interview with Gen. Banks in Graphic.)

"Do you apprehend that they will succeed?"

"No. They will not only be defeated, but destroyed. This election will be the last where they will trouble us as a section. Nothing will unite them now but a magnificent possibility of the patronage. Defeated this year, as they undoubtedly will be, they will fall into several parties and give us no more concern. I regard their campaign as certain to break down. We have only to show them that they shall not come into power as a south, as recently beat on rebellion, and they will not only be tractable, but useful citizens of our government. Therein lies the wickedness of Mr. Tilden's campaign, in saying to those Southern States, 'Unité again. By violence or intimidation, or fraud carry the reconstructed States, and we will pick up a Northern State somewhere and enable you to possess and enjoy the rich revenues of this rich government.' Animated by such freebooter's hopes they are ready to murder tens of thousands of men to get the United States Government. A member of Congress from the south said to me 'To be frank with you, we want the government, and we will get it, if we have to murder and stampede any number of people.'

Gen. Banks was very much aroused as he said this, his fine resonant voice and breathing nostril and kindled face set off by his luxuriant and bleached hair.

Says the Boston Journal "It is whispered in political circles that two of the most prominent democratic congressmen from Massachusetts have told their friends that they do not wish to disguise the fact that the possibility of Tilden coming into power, backed by the southern confederates, creates well-grounded fears for the prosperity of the union. A nother democratic member shakes his head ominously when the democratic house is mentioned."

It is a hopeful sign when northern democrats begin to see and frankly acknowledge that the unrepentant rebels of the south are endeavoring to secure through the election of Tilden what they failed to accomplish under Buchanan and open armed rebellion against the general government. What true patriot can vote for Tilden when he knows that his election would seriously threaten the perpetuity of the union?

The Maine correspondent of the New York Tribune says that Bob Ingersoll is creating a perfect furore in that state. "In his denunciations of the democratic party and its candidates," says the correspondent, "he awakens the same spirit which fired the enthusiasm of the sons of Maine against the rebellion fifteen years ago. 'Whoever you find a traitor with a musket in his hands,' says Ingersoll, 'then you find a democrat and what ever you find a democrat without a musket, then you find a rebel' and when this comes as the climax of a long series of indictments of the democratic party, the excitement of his audacious generally knows no bounds. Nor does Ingersoll confine himself to denunciation of political opponents; when he 'points with pride' to the glorious record of the republican party, and glides with his eloquence the great epochs of its history, he is equally successful in carrying those who listen with him."

The republicans of the new state of Colorado have nominated John L. Rout, formerly of Bloomington, for governor. This is a good nomination, and deserves to win, as it doubtless will.

In the Bloomington district the people—like their neighbors in this district—are at a loss to know whether the opposition candidate for congress is for Tilden or Cooper. Like Black, Stevenson was nominated by the independents, and having failed to define his position his constituents are in doubt as to whether he is a soft-money Cooperite or a hard-money Tildenite.

AN INDEPENDENT OPINION OF TILDEN.

(Gen. Banks in New York Graphic.)

"Have you any conception that Mr. Tilden would make an efficient President?"

"No, sir. There is nothing in his life, his countenance, or his profession to make him a president of such a people as ours in possibly troubled times. An attorney, one who has leaned on a client or a cause all his life, is not a man of original magistracy and authority. The elements of soldier, governor, lawyer, and legislator in Mr. Hayes, his striking face, power of silence and sternness, and unblemished life, will make him our model ruler in this new period of America."

And Eliza Young, notwithstanding she has made $50,000 on her book and lecturing, will continue her war on the prophet next winter.

THE RAILROAD GUIDE.

Yesterday forenoon a young man, whose business it was to sell railroad guides to any one who would buy, saw a Jefferson avenue clothing man standing in front of his door, and after a kindly salute the agent handed out one of his guides and said:

"This is the handiest little book in the world. It contains the name, time-table and route of every railroad in the United States."

"I never pays no such kind of books through it," replied the dealer as he glanced through it.

"But you want that pamphlet, my dear sir. You look like a man who travels around considerably, and no traveler can get along without one of these guides."

"I don't care to guide no railroad," said the dealer shaking his head and turning away.

"Hold on now—just look through it once. Suppose you want to go to New Orleans."

"I shall never go there so long as I am here."

"Well, suppose you want to go to Omaha?"

"Den I don't go."

"What do you do when you want to go to Chicago?"

"I sthays to home."

"Well, suppose you had to go, don't you think you would have to look at it then?"

"Nossir, I should go down to a depot, get on der train, pay some money for der por, and I should 'step off' in Chicago like some greaser."

The agent had no further arguments to advance.

This is the way George William Curtis put it in the Saratoga convention the other day:

"One hundred years ago, when Israel Putnam plowing in the field, heard of Concord and Lexington, he left his plow in the mould, shouldered his musket and went to the defence of his country. When the flag of the union was pulled down by slavery, Samuel J. Tilden, busy in court with a case—probably the Tarz Haute railroad case—cheers and laughter—began his people to wait until he could see that a call for troops to save the nation's flag and honor was proper. You remember Patrick Henry's reference to John Hook, a contractor, who, while the army at Valley Forge, shooed, and maddened with blood, shot, cryed, 'beef, beef!'

When this country trembled at the scales of bping, when every patriotic heart from Maine to California was thrilled with the duty it owed to its country, Samuel J. Tilden, in the interest of his private business and private success, would wait till he saw that the call for troops was proper. [Laughter and cheers.] This is the candidate offered by the democratic leaders to the people of this country."

In a speech delivered during the recent session of congress, Hon. Thomas L. Jones, a democratic member from Kentucky, thus referred to Mr. Blaine's amendment to exclude Jefferson Davis from the proposed universal amnesty. Mr. Jones said:

Should I properly characterize this gentleman's substitute, I would pronounce it an insult to every true man, woman and child in the South. Let me tell the gentleman that the time will come, perhaps near at hand, when the names of Grant, and Sherman, and Sheridan, and Lee, and Jackson, and Breckenridge—yes, sir, of the martyrdom of Lincoln, and the now insulted Jeff Davis—will be read with common pride and common respect by the American youth, and the last be honored as much as the first.

It is hardly necessary to say that Mr. Jones is for Tilden, Hendricks and reform.

The democracy have evidently had another remittance from the east, for they are spending 'money like' water. Large sums are being sent to all parts of the state, and this city is being flooded with it. Uniforms are furnished free of charge to all who will join Tilden clubs, and for all we know a bonus may be paid besides. At the present rate Tilden will spend nearer a hog-head than a barrel of money in Indiana.

GOVERNOR HAYES TO VISIT LONG BRANCH.

CARBONDALE, ILL., Aug. 28.—Little Addie Dullinger died at 2 o'clock this morning. She was buried at 4 o'clock. The scene at the funeral was heart rending, as nearly all her relatives were in attendance, and she has been loved by all. Her mother is almost broken down with grief. Her murderer, Bill Bowman, is now lodged in jail in this city. He was captured by the wide awake City Marshal, O. P. Hightower, assisted by his brother Jacob. They left here about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and rode to Bowman's house, where they made Pomp Taylor, Bowman's negro, tell where Bowman had gone to. Having gained what they sought for, they started at full speed, making for Green's Ferry, in Union county. They had ridden about eight miles when they turned around a curve in the road, and before them sat Bowman and several others, to whom he was trying to sell his horse. The officers advanced on him, and he held up his hands, saying, "Boys, don't shoot." Hightower requested the men standing around to assist them in taking Bowman, but they refused, and, probably thinking the James boys were on the raid, they dispersed. Jack Hightower then held a large revolver to Bowman's head, while he fled. Having secured him on a horse, they started for Carbondale at 8 o'clock, arriving here at 2 this morning. On the way here Bowman cried like a child, and relented very much at what he had done. In a conversation with him this afternoon he told your correspondent that he would not have done the deed for the world, but being so excited with liquor he could not resist the impulse of the moment. He said he would rather die than suffer what would necessarily follow. He was committed to the County Jail.

At Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 28.—James Hammill, a German, made a desperate attempt to-night to kill his wife and commit suicide. They have been living apart for a long time owing to his abuse of her. This afternoon he called at her room, and after repeated efforts succeeded in getting into her room and fastening the door. He then attacked her with a butcher knife, hacking her on the arms, limbs and body, and when she fell from loss of blood, he severed an artery in his right arm. The police broke into the room and found both insensible. Both were taken to the commercial hospital.

Physicians think the woman will recover, but Hammill will probably die. The woman is spoken of as worthy, but Hammill was a brute, squaring his life on the wife's earnings.

LINCOLN, NEB., Aug. 28.—Grass-hoppers have been here several days in countless millions. We have waited to note the effect of the visit before telegraphing you much about them. After a careful examination, of much territory, and a careful inquiry of much we did not examine, we are prepared to say that the damage to crops will not amount to four per cent. Some late varieties are slightly damaged, and early is not damaged at all. We selected specimens from twenty-eight corn fields, which shows a loss of less than five per cent. This you may regard as reliable and unprejudiced. The hoppers appear to be laying eggs, and are eating very little, containing their wings to leaves, trees, cabbage, lettuce, sprouts, etc. The wheat crop in this section is timothy, and the corn crop will be in keeping with it.

New York, Aug. 28.—The Herald's Long Branch letter says, President Grant has extended an invitation to Governor Hayes and wife, to spend a few days with him at Long Branch, and the governor has accepted.
